Think a degree is only about getting your first job? What happens when AI starts doing many of the technical tasks we learn today?

THINK AGAIN

A Liberal Arts degree teaches you how to think, communicate, solve complex problems, and understand people-skills that employers value today and that will stay relevant long after specific technologies and job roles change.

FOUNDER'S MESSAGE

Dr. Achyuta Samanta Honourable Founder, KIIT, KISS, and KIMS

The School of Liberal Studies at KIIT-DU was conceived and instituted to provide the students with a wider and more humane view of the universe. The School has a distinctive quality in being based upon the principle of the universality of things that helps thoughts and understanding to transcend the borders of good to great. The school has prepared a unique road map to become one of the front ranking Schools in the country by developing multidisciplinary programmes across the disciplines of English (Humanities), Psychology, Sociology, Foreign Languages and Literature, Library Science and Digital Humanities from within the School and Public Policy, Law, Media, Film and Design from across other Schools. Special emphasis is given for nurturing aesthetic sense, ethical values and sustainable development goals. Students are oriented for their immersion in myriad extramural activities beside academics for the complete realization of their leadership potential and developing well rounded personalities. Further cent per cent placements of students across faculties at KIIT take place due to strong Industry, academia collaboration. KIIT has the best infrastructure in the country with world class faculty, labs, capstone clubs, library, study abroad programmes & NEP-2020 complied curriculum. KIIT and KISS jointly have the best Sports Infrastructure amongst all HEIs in the country. Many Sports persons being groomed at KIIT & KISS have made their mark nationally & internationally. Recently 23 students from KIIT participated in the Olympics. As per Rankings, KIIT is ranked 201-300 in the world according to Times Higher Education Overall Impact Ranking , QS world University Rankings: Sustainability (Overall) 901-920 and NIRF University Ranking of 15. As an Institution KIIT is only -28- year old & a -21- year old University. Yet it has been accredited with an (A++) grade by NAAC till 2027. It is noteworthy that the School has also been accredited by the United Nations for the promotion of the Nelson Mandela initiative for social change. No wonder, KIIT School of Liberal Studies is the preferred destination of students who want to make a flourishing career in Liberal Arts. At KIIT, we simultaneously train our students to excel in their preferred domains & also to become responsible citizens & good human beings of whom their parents can be proud of.

VICE CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE

Dr. Saranjit Singh Vice-Chancellor, KIIT-DU

Welcome to the KIIT School of Liberal Studies!

With world-class faculty, groundbreaking research opportunities and a commitment to fostering a diverse environment of bright, talented students, KIIT is more than just a place to get an education — it's where students pursue limitless possibilities. As the Vice Chancellor, it is my honor to invite you to join our vibrant community of learners, researchers, and innovators.

PRO-VICE CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE

KIIT School of Liberal Studies, is the appropriate place for holistic education. It is a platform to build your career, character and contacts. Here we provide a real time global immersion. Once you are in KIIT, you have the added advantage of engaging with sustainable social and humanitarian milieu. The multidisciplinary curriculum with the state-of-the-art labs and sports facilities helps in shaping the minds & bodies of the future leaders of the world. It is a unique experience for me to work here.

I particularly mentor the academic & research activities in the schools of Liberal Studies, Public Policy, KIIT Art Academy (KAA) and Leadership. All the schools across KIIT, KISS & KIMS work together under the overarching capstone club. Nontraditional position in the job market will grow when other skills are increasingly being duplicated by Artificial Intelligence (AI). Skills in critical thinking and culture that Liberal Studies provide cannot be replaced by AI. This is the School where scope for your future prosperity lies.

Dr. Debashis Bandyopadhyay
Pro-Vice-Chancellor, KIIT-DU

THE DEAN Speaks

Dr. Sakshi Kaul
Dean, School of Liberal
Studies

School of Liberal Studies at KIIT is a vibrant academic space committed to nurturing intellectually curious and future-ready individuals. We believe that education extends beyond disciplinary boundaries to learning critical thinking, creativity, empathy, communication skills, ethical awareness, and the ability to understand diverse human and social contexts. Education in contemporary times requires shifting from rigid knowledge memorization to dynamic, adaptable skill-building and value-driven leadership. Our endeavour is to create an academic environment where students are encouraged to question, explore, collaborate, research, and innovate. We place strong emphasis on connecting classroom learning with real-world experiences through projects, fieldwork, internships, workshops, seminars, research initiatives, community engagement, and industry and institutional collaborations.

The School brings together the disciplines of Psychology, Sociology, Humanities, Language and Literature, and Library and Information Science. Each department contributes a distinctive perspective while collectively enabling students to understand individuals, communities, cultures, knowledge systems, and the world around them. In the technology-driven world, liberal studies and social sciences have an important role to play in shaping thoughtful citizens and responsible professionals. We aspire to prepare our students not merely for careers, but for lifelong learning, leadership, responsible citizenship, and meaningful contribution to society.

I invite prospective students to become part of an academic community where knowledge meets curiosity, learning meets purpose, and education becomes a catalyst for positive change. Lets us embark on a journey of discovery, Knowledge and transformation.

ABOUT THE SCHOOL

KIIT School of Liberal Studies offers a flexible and interdisciplinary academic framework that brings together disciplinary knowledge, cross-disciplinary learning, research, and professional preparation. Aligned with the National Education Policy (NEP), the curriculum integrates Interdisciplinary Courses, Major and Minor pathways, Skill Enhancement Courses, internships, research, and experiential learning, enabling students to develop disciplinary depth while pursuing academic interests across fields.

The School brings together Languages, Literature, Psychology, Sociology, Library and Information Science, and emerging digital and interdisciplinary fields, offering students the opportunity to develop academic and professional competencies relevant to diverse career trajectories. Its programmes open pathways to higher education and research, publishing and editing, media and communication, corporate communication, counselling and behavioural services, translation and language industries, library and information services, archival research and heritage management, public policy and development, government and civil services, NGOs and the development sector, digital industries, and related professional fields.

The School's interdisciplinary academic culture is complemented by the Centre for Comparative Literature and Cultural Studies, which facilitates research at the intersection of literature, language, culture, society, technology, and contemporary public life. Through research projects, colloquia, seminars, publications, and collaborative initiatives, the Centre provides an institutional platform for interdisciplinary and socially engaged scholarship.

Academic programmes across the School are connected through shared courses, faculty expertise, research initiatives, academic events, global exposure, and collaborative student activities. This integrated approach enables students to engage with multiple disciplinary perspectives, undertake research, develop transferable skills, and connect classroom learning with contemporary social and professional contexts. The School thus brings together disciplinary rigour, interdisciplinary inquiry, research engagement, and career-oriented learning within a cohesive pedagogic framework.

VISION

The School of Liberal Studies envisions cultivating intellectually curious and socially responsible individuals who harness the power of questioning and critical analysis to engage with the complexities of the contemporary world. Rooted in a deep commitment to cultural awareness, plurality, and respect for difference, the School seeks to nurture better citizens equipped with strong ethical foundations, interdisciplinary perspectives, and the professional capabilities and skills necessary to contribute meaningfully to diverse global and local contexts.

MISSION

To foster a culture of inquiry that emphasizes the power of questioning, critical thinking, and analytical rigor.

To promote cultural awareness and a deep appreciation of plurality and difference in a rapidly changing world.

To equip students with professional skills and competencies aligned with evolving academic and industry needs.

To nurture responsible, informed, and engaged citizens committed to ethical and meaningful contributions to society.

WHY LIBERAL STUDIES @KIIT?

01 Interdisciplinary and Flexible Learning

Choose from interdisciplinary Major and Minor options within a flexible, NEP-aligned curriculum.

Foundation courses in critical thinking and experiential learning, encourage students to work across disciplines and perspectives.

02 Human Skills for an AI-Driven World

With nontraditional positions in tech, Liberal Studies develops communication, cultural understanding, critical judgment, and the ability to navigate nuanced capabilities that AI cannot replicate

03 AI-Integrated, Competence-Focused Education

AI and digital tools are integrated explicitly into pedagogy and curriculum, with an emphasis on useful and auditable AI use. At the same time, students develop and demonstrate their own knowledge, reasoning, and professional competence.

WHY LIBERAL STUDIES @KIIT?

04 Research, Experience and Global Exposure

Research projects, field engagement, internships, foreign language learning, global exposure, and academic and co-curricular activities connect classroom learning with real-world contexts and diverse cultural environments.

05 Professional Skills and Emerging Careers

Industry-relevant professional training prepares students for evolving careers, including emerging roles within technology and AI-powered organisations where interdisciplinary knowledge, human skills, and cultural competence are increasingly valuable.

HUMANITIES

BA (3/4 years) | MA (1/2 years) | PhD English

with/ without research

The purpose of literature is to turn blood into ink

The Department of Humanities offers BA, MA, and PhD programmes in English, designed to explore the many layers of literature and its connections with the world. Our courses go beyond traditional boundaries, blending literary studies with history, philosophy, culture, and even technology. The Department also caters to the need of the entire university by providing courses on Communication and Managerial Skills. We believe literature is not just about reading texts. It's about understanding ideas, questioning systems, and discovering how stories shape our lives. From analyzing classic works to studying modern media, students engage with a wide range of subjects that reflect our changing world.

Our interdisciplinary approach means students can connect literature with fields like film and media studies, digital humanities, environmental humanities, gender studies, and postcolonial studies. This creates a space where diverse ideas and perspectives thrive. For those who can think, reflect and create our department is a place to grow. Join us, and let's turn stories into tools for change.

We cannot change anything until we accept it

The Department of Psychology under the School of Liberal Studies, is committed to delivering a dynamic and interdisciplinary education that aligns with the progressive framework of the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020. The department focuses on building strong psychological foundations, equipping students with advanced tools and techniques to understand human behavior and mental processes. With a learner-centric and holistic curriculum, students explore diverse subfields and engage in experiential learning through research projects and hands-on training. Guided by experienced faculty, the department prioritizes community engagement, preparing students to make meaningful contributions to society as compassionate leaders, skilled professionals, and researchers.

SOCIOLOGY

BA (3/4 years) | MA (1/2 years) | PhD Sociology

Understanding Society, Shaping the Future

The Department of Sociology is dedicated to fostering a thorough and responsible understanding of contemporary society. By staying informed about global and local changes in social life, economics, politics, culture, and daily living, we equip our students to critically analyze their surroundings with strong sociological foundations and interdisciplinary awareness. Our programs emphasize emerging global issues such as health, security, poverty, sustainability, technology, law, and governance. We blend classical and contemporary approaches to key themes like family and kinship, religion and ritual, social hierarchies, rural and urban dynamics, art and aesthetics, and sensory experiences. Our teaching methods adhere to the highest standards of social science excellence, emphasizing rigorous methodologies and theoretical discussions.

Unlock Global Career Opportunities

The Department of Language and Literature offers cutting-edge, value-driven education in globally recognized languages, equipping you with essential language proficiency to thrive in today's competitive world. Our programs are tailored to meet the career demands in Multinational Corporations (MNCs), UN Missions, Embassies, NGOs, BPOs, and innovative start-ups. Mastering these languages also opens doors to prestigious Universities abroad for higher education. The industry-oriented curriculum in foreign languages, both for Degree and Certificate courses, taught by experts from reputed Universities cater to the development of a globally recognized skill set and competitive edge among students for careers worldwide.

LIBRARY AND INFORMATION SCIENCE

M. Lib. I. Sc | PhD

Step into the world of knowledge and information

The Department of Library and Information Science is dedicated to educating future leaders in the field of library and information science. We prepare students to excel in managing libraries, archives, information centers, and beyond, with an intense focus on advanced research and practical training. Our expert faculty members are committed to fostering a dynamic learning environment where students can develop skills in information organization, management, retrieval, and digital librarianship. Join us and embark on a rewarding journey to shape your future in information science.

CENTRE FOR COMPARATIVE LITERATURE AND CULTURAL STUDIES

PhD in Comparative Literature and Cultural Studies

The Center for Innovation and Research (COIR) is an initiative of KIIT-DU to strengthen the university's focus on interdisciplinarity and innovative knowledge production. As part of this initiative, the Centre for Comparative Literature and Cultural Studies seeks to promote socially engaged research that addresses contemporary cultural, political, and technological challenges through critical and cross-disciplinary approaches.

Comparative Literature and Cultural Studies are transdisciplinary fields that explore intertextual relations across different temporalities and spatialities, and facilitate dialogues between diverse disciplines. They offer critical insights into the complexities and nuances of cultural plurality and question textual, social, and cultural hierarchies, building inclusive and cohesive spaces. In an increasingly globalized world, where linguistic, cultural, and national boundaries continue to blur, the relevance of inclusive, pluralistic, and interdisciplinary approaches has grown significantly. The epistemological framework of our time must, therefore, accommodate ideas of intersectionality, inclusivity, and transcultural dialogue as a politics of resistance against sectarianism or identitarianism.
